

PHIL CHANG

CURRENT TEAM USA COACH

Phil Chang is an accomplished figure skating coach with a wealth of experience in training skaters beginner to elite. He has successfully guided athletes to the U.S. National Development Camp, has played a dual role as a coach and choreographer at the U.S. National Championships and has choreographed for a member of Team USA. His expertise extends internationally, having worked with the Taiwanese National Medalists as well as many international competitors.

Phil specializes in single skaters, focusing on comprehensive training that unites on-ice skating skills, IJS Strategies, and choreography. His approach creates personalized development plans that meet the unique needs of each skater. Phil is also a USFS technical specialist.

Before transitioning to coaching, Phil demonstrated his own skating proficiency by passing the Senior Moves in the Field test and the Junior Free Skate. His passion for the arts and performance led him to pursue a degree in the Psychology of Music at New York University, where he received his BA. This academic background enriches his coaching and choreography.

ANNA KLYUSHNIKOVA

Anna trains skaters of all ages and levels, from recreational beginners to advanced singles and synchronized competitors. Her lessons include choreography, jumps, spins, and moves in the field, with focus on technical fundamentals and expressive artistry. As a former competitive single skater in Russia, Anna brings deep expertise in teaching advanced jumping and spinning technique—offering her students a solid foundation that goes beyond basic instruction, as well as prepares advanced athletes for National Qualifying Series (NQS) competitions.

She holds a degree in Physical Culture and Education in Sport from a Russian university. Anna competed at the national level before discovering her passion for performance, touring for over a decade with Ballet on Ice and Holiday on Ice. This unique background allows Anna to blend refined artistry with solid technique in her coaching.

Many of Anna's students have reached gold-level mastery in their Moves in the Field and Free Skate tests, earning medals and strong results at competitions. Her teaching is dedicated to fostering confidence, skill, and personal growth on the ice—whether guiding first-time skaters or preparing athletes for national events. Anna's academic background and extensive experience as both a competitive skater and performer inspire her commitment to helping each student discover joy and success in their skating journey."

JULIA LAUTOWA

CURRENT TEAM USA COACH

Julia Lautowa is an accomplished figure skating coach, specializing in the development of Juvenile to Elite athletes. Her training regimen encompasses both on-ice and off-ice training, ensuring a well-rounded approach to athlete development. All of her skaters participate in the National Qualifying Series, where many have achieved notable success. Julia's students have earned spots on U.S. Figure Skating's National Development team every year since its inception and she has had students compete at the U.S. Figure Skating National Championships for nearly two decades.

Currently, Julia coaches two skaters who proudly represent Team USA. She has had students qualify for some of the most prestigious events sanctioned by the International Skating Union, including the Grand Prix Series, Junior Worlds, and the Four Continents Championships.

Before transitioning to coaching, Julia had a distinguished career as a competitive skater. She is a seven-time National Champion of Austria and has represented her country at numerous international competitions, including the World Championships, European Championships, and the Olympic Games.

Ava Min is a dedicated figure skating coach who works with athletes from the Learn to Skate level through advanced Non-Qualifying and early NQS levels, focusing on the foundational development of both technical skill and artistry. Her coaching emphasizes not only strong skating fundamentals but also the creation of meaningful, confidence-building experiences for each skater.

Ava is committed to helping skaters thrive in a positive, supportive environment. She has coached athletes in U.S. Figure Skating Basic Skills competitions, where her students consistently perform with confidence and enthusiasm. Known for her energetic and adaptive teaching style, Ava specializes in working with children and early-stage competitors, ensuring that every skater feels seen, motivated, and encouraged.

In addition to her coaching work, Ava is a Gold Medalist in Singles and Skating Skills and a two-time U.S. Figure Skating Excel National Finalist (2021 & 2022).

Ava is a student at Barnard College of Columbia University, where she is pursuing a degree with plans to attend law school and focus on Education and Urban Policy. She currently serves as the president of Columbia University's Collegiate Figure Skating Team, one of the top-ranked teams in the North Atlantic region.

Her academic and leadership background informs her structured, intentional approach to coaching—aiming to develop not just strong skaters, but resilient, well-rounded individuals.

NINA PETRENKO

CURRENT TEAM USA COACH

Nina Petrenko, a three time Olympic figure skating coach, offers instruction to skaters of all ages and skill levels, with a particular emphasis on spins and choreography. Her relentless work ethic, natural creativity, and unmatched eye for detail establish a high standard of excellence, leading her skaters to achieve remarkable success both in the United States and internationally.

Throughout her impressive career, Nina's skaters have competed at prestigious events, including the U.S. National Championships, the Grand Prix Series, the Junior Grand Prix Series, and the Olympic Games. In the past three seasons, she has choreographed over a dozen programs that have been performed at the U.S. National Championships, in addition to working with numerous skaters who have qualified for the National Development Team and competed on behalf of Team USA.

Nina's lifelong study of ballet has profoundly influenced her coaching approach, enriching her understanding of dance and movement. This background empowers her to create choreography that resonates with audiences. Her ability to recognize the unique talents and potential of each skater allows her to maximize their performance and enhance their skills on the ice.

Currently, Nina proudly coaches three skaters on Team USA who train at the Ice House. She has attracted talent at every level, and her consistent results have solidified her reputation as a leading figure skating coach.
